“REGIONS OF JAPAN” – Who we are

The “REGIONS OF JAPAN” booth is organized by Screen Authority Sapporo (SAS) ; the official film commission to Sapporo City, Hokkaido.

We are a showcase from which you can discover the charms from various regions of Japan.

Each region has its own distinctive history, lifestyle and cuisine.

We bring together 24 companies from 9 regions; Sapporo, Sendai, Fukushima, Niigata, Nagoya, Kyoto, Fukuoka, Saga and Kumamoto.

The special feature of our booth is the diversity of regions and the cooperative work between public and private sectors.

Not only will you find TV programs, films and animations, but you will also meet future co-productions partners and gateways to local governing bodies.

You are always welcome to the film commissions for local assistance. Be the next project to evolve from our booth.

We hope to bridge you and each region to contribute to local promotion and help energizing the community.

This is our third constructive showcase at FILMART.
Our mission came from FILMART 2014 and will continue for the future markets to come.

We look forward to seeing you again at the next market.

CITY OF SAPPORO

Sapporo, Blessed by Snow

Sapporo, thanks to Hokkaido which is a great source of foods, combines the natural beauty of the four seasons together with a metropolitan outlook. A place that inspires creativity for all who visit, leaving a lasting impression. The melting snow reflects the gentle sunlight and young leaves bloom in spring. Nice, cool summer with fresh breeze and various kinds of flowers. In autumn the leaves change color like a colorful tapestry – green, yellow, orange, vivid red. And finally it becomes a pure white world in winter. Especially the scenery of snow falling in silence, it's fantastic and exclusive to northern countries. Residents identify with snow and enjoy their life. Sapporo is called the city with the blessings of snow.

MADE IN KYOTO

Kyoto's allure lies not only in its shrines and temples or the elegance of the city. For more than a millennium since the year 794, Kyoto flourished as the capital, leading the way in the arts, architecture and commerce. The essence of Japanese culture was born in Kyoto, and has been refined and passed down to modern times. "MADE IN KYOTO" introduces artistry at its best- from traditional weaving and cuisine to state-of-the-art robotics - created and nurtured by the masters of Kyoto who know true quality.

PRISON SCHOOL

Live-action drama of the hugely popular comic, "PRISON SCHOOL," which won the 37th Kodansha Comics Award.

The drama "PRISON SCHOOL" is set in a draconian boarding-style girl's academy-turned-coed. It centers around five boys including Kiyoshi the main character who, for the infraction of trying to peek into the girl's bath, are caught by the "Secret Student Council" headed by three girls, and are locked up in a prison on the school grounds. With their youth at stake, the boys set out to free themselves. This drama is often silly with the boyish appeal of adolescence and is sure to have you in stitches, but it will also touch your heart.

Story

This is a "what if" scenario of Kyoto in 50 years... The city of Kyoto still retains its beautiful Japanese landscape. But, there are no Japanese to be seen. The city is alive with foreigners from around the world, all with the common dream of living in Kyoto. These residents are well versed in the city's culture and customs, and speak fluent Kyoto dialect. It is in this strange Kyoto that the mysteries traveler Mei appears. Having had her suitcase stolen in front of the train station, Mei finds herself living at the traditional Japanese residence of the taxi driver Nin. The wondrous city of Kyoto surrounding Mei and Nin. A diverse range of people with a diverse range of nationalities. A mix-match of irregular personalities. And the real reason Mei came to Kyoto...

The city of Kyoto, the most recognizable symbol of Japan, and constantly in the international spotlight. It could be said that this city is the cradle of "Japanese Spirit" which has been nurtured over its long history. But don't you think that present day Kyoto is a little bit out of balance? And that maybe we Japanese have somehow forgotten what it really means to be Japanese? So, what if Japanese decided to give up their rights to Kyoto..? And what if foreigners inherited the "Japanese Spirit" that Japanese had forgotten..? Is that Globalization? Does that feel right? Is it a strange concept? Is it imaginary? Or is it just an illusion? A powerful, cynical, and fantastic representation of Kyoto in the near future. This movie, which was completely filmed in Kyoto, is the result of collaboration between Kyoto based staff and foreigners living in Japan. A "made in Kyoto" fantasy film that presents a "neo Kyoto" where the foreigners are more Japanese than Japanese.

That's right! Let's visit a slightly "bizarre" Kyoto.

Ishi-chan's "Extraordinary" Gourmet Show

Starring one of Japan's most famous "gourmet reporters," Hidehiko Ishizuka (a.k.a. Ishi-chan), the program presents little known gems of restaurants and exquisite cuisine from across the country. There are numerous, fine-tasting dishes popular throughout Japan, with sushi to sukiyaki, ramen to Shabu-shabu, just being a few. This show, however, focuses on superb dishes that exceed all expectations as well as exclusive specialties known only to select gastronomes or connoisseurs. Ishi-chan throws himself at everything from off-beat menus such as pitch-black Udon noodles and shiny, gold-colored hot pots to individual ingredients like fresh beef and octopus. His humorous antics and comments, along with his much loved signature cry "Maiu! (Delicious)" whenever he tastes something wonderful, are other entertaining features that viewers can look forward to.
