

Love Stories from Fukuoka :Blind happiness

Akina (Umika Kawashima) and Takumi (Kodai Asaka) had been dating since high school.

After graduating from high school, Akina started working as a bus tour guide in Saga Prefecture, which was 1hour train ride away from her hometown. On the other hand, her boyfriend Takumi stayed in town, got a job in a factory. Being separated from each other, romance oriented Akina struggled not to miss her boyfriend Takumi so much. But one day, on their date, one Akina's action made Takumi's mind to end their relationship. Was Akina the only one who was madly in love?! Three years later, Akina was living changing job to jobs, not having a particular goal in her life. She still had a feeling for Takumi, and one day her friends announced her the shocking news about him. Takumi was dealing with a disability. Leaving everything behind, Akina goes to see him. Can she get close to Takumi's deeply hurt, closed heart? The second chapter of their romance begins!

SENGOKUCHOJYUGIGA

"CHOJYUGIGA" (Animal caricature) is a Japanese ancient drawing in scroll and the National Treasure. It's also known as the oldest "Manga" (Japanese cartoons).

It's drawn with Indian ink painting called "Sumie", and illustrates anthropomorphic rabbits, monkeys and frogs.

Having similar concept, "SENGOKUCHOJYUGIGA" satirically depicts the Sengoku-era (medieval period) warlords as animals in "Sumie" style.

The story follows historical events as well as casual everyday situations comically and cynically in modern language.

The show stars upcoming popular Japanese actors, idols, cosplayer, Kabuki actor and many more showbiz entertainers.
